Bio

The SBPianoBoys, Rhyan and Zeyn, aka The Piano Boys, are young brothers who have been playing classical piano since 5, composing since 8, performing publicly since 9, and recently teaching music to youth and adults alike. They aspire to introduce and attract everyone to classical music, youngsters especially, and to spread its immense beauties and benefits everywhere.

The brothers entertain regularly at various venues and functions of all sizes, and constantly inspire countless people of all ages to both appreciate and play classical music. At only 14 & 15, they have already had hundreds of public performances on many known stages, regionally and beyond, and continue to capture everywhere the admiration of big audiences, professional musicians, and music lovers of all genres.

They enjoy a large fan base and are frequently mentioned in different publications and featured on TV and radio stations. They have been very fortunate to study with top teachers, both privately and at reputable music schools, and to receive the approval of judges during music competitions and auditions that earned them several honors and widely-recognized accolades.

Besides their exceptional love for music and entertaining, the brothers have always maintained highest grades academically, are currently in the Engineering Academy at DPHS taking a big interest also in the sciences, and hope to one day combine classical music with engineering, or medicine, to better heal and cure as many medical and neurological conditions as possible.
